

Q 11. 40-42

2016-04-17

That's ~~shouldn't~~ be the motive to do something right. You do it because it's right or you're doing it wrong. If you do whatever you did because ~~you did~~ you wanted fame or anything among those things there's no reason for you to be remembered as a hero, only as a selfish person.

If it's really that important what you're doing then just do and don't worry about being remembered.

A real hero doesn't care 'bout fame or money.

He ~~does~~ cares about doing the ~~god damn~~ right thing.

Your lifetime is limited, use it. Doing stuff is important, way more important than being remembered.

And even if that's what you want. Thinking about as for that ~~unlike~~ writing about being remembered will never ~~have~~ ^{you} remembered.